OWNERSHIP

DANIEL GILBERT

Dan Gilbert is chairman and founder of Quicken Loans, Inc., the nation's largest online home lender.

Dan is also majority owner of the NBA's Cleveland Cavaliers, the American Hockey League's Lake Erie Monsters, and is the operator of the Quicken Loans Arena in Cleveland, Ohio.

Dan became majority owner of the NBA's Cleveland Cavaliers in March 2005. Gilbert has created a championship-caliber culture in every aspect of the Cavaliers organization, both on the court and off.

The ownership group has invested over $30 million in Quicken Loans Arena upgrades and renovations, including new fan seats, an HD-quality center-hung video scoreboard unit, video and sound systems, arena graphics, signage, security, player locker rooms, suite upgrades and administrative offices, as well as the development of a new and separate $25 million player development and training center named Cleveland Clinic Courts. Cleveland Clinic Courts is the model for team practice facilities around the NBA.

The Cavs are the only team in the NBA to advance past the first round of the NBA Playoffs in each of the last four seasons. The team's 36 playoff victories over the past four seasons is also the most by any team in the NBA during that period. In four seasons at the helm of the Cavaliers, 2009 NBA Coach of the Year Mike Brown, the only head coach hired under Gilbert's ownership, has recorded the best winning percentage of any coach in the teams' 39-year history.

The team recorded a league-leading and franchise-best home record of 39-2 last season and the Cavs also set franchise records this season in home attendance and sellouts (38 of 41 games) with an average attendance of 20,512 fans (capacity 20,562).

The Monsters finised their second season in 2008-09 with the ninth-highest average attendance in the AHL, up from 11th the year before. The team sent 15 players to play with their NHL affiliate, the Colorado Avalanche, 11 of who made their NHL debut. Lake Erie's second season also saw a 30% increase in group ticket sales, 11% increase in season ticket sales and 33% increase in corporate sales. For the second straight year, the Monsters game presentation efforts were honored with the 2009 Golden Matrix Award for Best Overall Video Display – Minor League Division from the Information Display and Entertainment Association.

Quicken Loans has closed $15 billion in home loan volume through the first half of 2009. The company employs nearly 3,000 people and has been ranked in the Top 30 of FORTUNE Magazine's "100 Best Companies to Work For" the past six years (ranking as high as #2). The company also has been ranked as one of Computerworld Magazine's "100 Best Places to Work in Technology" the past five years, ranking #1 in 2005, 2006 and 2007.

Dan founded Rock Financial in 1985 as a 23–year old first–year law student. Rock Financial grew into one of the largest independent mortgage lenders in the country. In 1998, the company went public in an IPO led by Bear Stearns, Inc.

In January 1999, the company launched its Internet strategy and quickly positioned itself as the fastest growing online direct mortgage lender on the Internet.

In January 2000, software maker Intuit purchased Rock Financial and the national online lending business was renamed "Quicken Loans." With Dan staying on as CEO, Quicken Loans became the leading national provider of home loans on the Internet. QuickenLoans.com has gone on to earn "Best of the Web" accolades from Forbes, Money and PC Magazine.

In 2002, Gilbert led a small group of private investors and purchased Quicken Loans Inc., back from Intuit; Quicken Loans has been privately held since that time. The company retains all rights to the 'Quicken Loans, Inc.' trademarks.

Dan became majority owner of the Cleveland Cavaliers in March 2005 and immediately undertook a complete overhaul of the front office, coaching staff, player personnel, and game presentation.

In addition, the ownership group has invested $30 million in the Quicken Loans Arena (known as "The Q"), including new seats, one of the largest HD-quality center-hung scoreboards and video displays in the NBA, other new video and sound systems, arena graphics, signage, security elements, player locker rooms, suite upgrades and administrative offices, as well as the development of a new $25 million player development and training center named the Cleveland Clinic Courts.

During Dan's second year of ownership, the Cavaliers won the 2007 Eastern Conference Championship by beating the Detroit Pistons, advancing to the NBA Finals for the first time in the 37-year history of the franchise. The team finished the 2008-2009 regular season with a franchise record and NBA-leading 66 wins and the Cavaliers are currently the only team in the NBA to advance past the first round of the playoffs in each of the prior four seasons.

Dan and his partners also operate and invest in several consumer–based, technology-centered businesses, including: online promotions company ePrize, based in Pleasant Ridge, Mich.; Fathead LLC in Livonia, Mich. (and with a distribution center near Columbus, Ohio); Northcentral University; StyleCaster in New York City; Veritix in Cleveland, Ohio; and Boston-based Xenith LLC.

ePrize is the global leader in the interactive promotions industry, using online promotions, including sweepstakes and reward programs, to help companies establish direct relationships with their clients. One of the fastest growing segments in the marketing industry, interactive promotions drive immediate and measurable results to a wide range of marketing objectives, and help initiate and nurture direct, permission-based relationships with clients.

Fathead LLC exclusively licenses and sells a new category of product for the true sports enthusiast. A "Fathead" is a life-size, colorful, vinyl wall graphic of popular sports stars from the NBA, NFL, NHL and MLB in an action pose, as well as pro and college team helmets and logos, in addition to NASCAR racecars and Hollywood entertainment characters.

Northcentral University is a leading accredited online university providing bachelor's, master's and doctoral degree programs in business and technology management, education and psychology. The fully accredited institution currently enlists 8,000 students from all 50 states and 52 other countries in its programs.

StyleCaster is the web's first integrated fashion experience, providing a personal style discovery platform that incorporates the highest quality content, interactivity, and technology. Determined to create the most innovative and engaging user experience in the market, StyleCaster will be the first truly interactive and intelligent channel in the fashion space.

Veritix has created technology and processes that replace physical tickets for large sports and entertainment events with an electronic approach and offers a secure, online marketplace for transferring and selling tickets in a digital format. The Cavaliers are the first team in professional sports to use this new technology.

Xenith LLC has developed an innovative helmet technology that reduces the risk and severity of concussions and other traumatic brain injuries.

Dan was Rawlings Sporting Goods' largest shareholder and was instrumental in effecting the sale of Rawlings to K2 Sports in March 2003.

Other significant investments include Xeko, the award winning line of educational eco-adventure toys and games made sustainably using earth-friendly materials with minimal packaging. The Seattle-based company donates a percentage of net sales to conservation efforts to save Earth's biodiversity hotspots, and it is currently working to extend the brand into television and film projects.

Gilbert is a founding partner in private equity group Rockbridge Growth Equity LLC. The partnership invests in growing businesses in the financial services, Internet technology, consumer-direct marketing, and the sports and entertainment sectors.

He also is an investor and financier with Rock Companies in residential and commercial real estate developments in several states.

In 2007, Dan launched Bizdom U in Detroit. The non-profit academy trains, mentors and finances young entrepreneurs and their start-up businesses in the city of Detroit. Bizdom U's mission is to create successful businesses, jobs, growth and wealth in large urban cities.

Quicken Loans is also the lead sponsor of Rock Financial JA Finance Park in downtown Detroit, a program that teaches school age children about money and finance.

Gilbert serves on the boards of the Cleveland Clinic, the Children's National Medical Center in Washington, D.C., and the Children's Tumor Foundation in New York City. He is a former president of JARC, based in suburban Detroit.

Dan has been the keynote speaker at the Harvard Business School, The University of Michigan and the NAACP annual convention, among other organizations.

He is a frequent guest on CNBC's business programs including guest-hosting CNBC's Morning Call as well as numerous appearances on ESPN, CNN and FOX.

Gilbert earned his bachelor's degree from Michigan State University and his law degree from Wayne State University.

He has received the "Entrepreneur of the Year" award from Ernst & Young and has been inducted into the Junior Achievement Hall of Fame.

President, Cavaliers/Quicken Loans Arena
Governor, Lake Erie Monsters

Len Komoroski was named president of the Cavaliers/Quicken Loans Arena organization in April 2003. Komoroski brings more than 25 years of experience in professional sports and entertainment to the organization. His leadership and business initiative bring a solid foundation from which the Cleveland Cavaliers, Lake Erie Monsters and Quicken Loans Arena can continue to thrive and flourish.

During the 2003-04 season, Komoroski oversaw the restructuring of how the Cavaliers approached the business community, including the development of a staff featuring some of the top sports marketing executives in the industry. Those efforts, combined with one very special NBA draft and the team's improvement on the court, resulted in one of the top business turnaround stories in NBA history. The Cavaliers had the largest year-over-year attendance increase in NBA history, progressing from a league-low of 11,497 per game in 2002-03 to 18,288 in 2003-04 – a 59% increase. Television ratings were up 300% and featured revised broadcast agreements resulting in the largest number of locally-televised games in team history. Radio ratings also increased by more than 200% and local merchandise sales grew by 500%. The Cavaliers also experienced the largest increase in corporate partnership revenue in the NBA that season. He also led the charge in the transformation of the Cavaliers communications efforts and dramatic changes in developing one of the most dynamic game experiences in the NBA.

Since then, Komoroski has led continued growth and development across the board bringing the Cavs into the top tier of revenue teams in the NBA. The Cavaliers experienced a history-making, record-breaking 2008-09 regular season on the court, as well as off the court. Two new franchise records were set in average attendance (20,512) and the number of sellouts (38 total, with the last 29 games of the season all sold out). Compared to the previous season, Cavaliers merchandise sales were up 80% and local cable TV ratings on FOX Sports Ohio increased another 110%. The franchise's overall business success culminated for Komoroski and the entire organization when the Cavaliers were one of only five professional sports teams (NBA – Boston Celtics, NHL – Chicago Blackhawks, MLB – Tampa Bay Rays and Milwaukee Brewers) in the United States to be named a finalist for the prestigious Sports Business Journal's 2009 Sports Team of the Year Award. The award recognizes excellence in sports franchise business operations. The franchise was also #1 in the NBA and #5 in all of pro sports in the 2009 ESPN The Magazine Rankings of How Pro Sports Teams Pay Back Their Fans.

Among his many achievements at the helm of the Cavaliers business operations, Komoroski played a pivotal role in developing one of the top cable television relationships in the NBA with FOX Sports Ohio, as well as the entitlement of the Cavaliers new state-of-the-art player development facility – Cleveland Clinic Courts. In addition, he played a leadership role in the acquisition of its American Hockey League franchise, the Lake Erie Monsters, which played their inaugural season at The Q in 2007-08. In just their second season, the Monsters corporate sales revenue increased over 33%, group sales were up by 30%, and the team moved up from 11th to 9th in league attendance in 2008-09.

While with the Philadelphia Eagles, Komoroski brought many properties in-house, including the Eagles Television Network, which is the largest developer of local programming in the NFL. Under his guidance, the Eagles established the fan-friendly NFL Training Camp, which was the most heavily attended in the league, featuring autograph sessions, interactive games, hospitality and an extraordinary merchandise tent. He also helped broker a record-setting naming rights deal with NovaCare, garnering a reported $66 million for the Eagles training facility, the NovaCare Complex.

Komoroski also played a leadership role in the development of Lincoln Financial Field, the Eagles state-of-the-art stadium. Through his efforts, the Eagles secured a 20-year, $140 million naming rights agreement with Lincoln Financial Group, which at the time was one of the largest such agreements in pro sports history. He and his business group orchestrated the successful sellout of 172 suites, 8,000 club seats, 29,000 Stadium Builder Licenses and a waiting list of over 40,000 for season tickets.

Through the efforts of Komoroski and his team, the Eagles were among the most successful NFL teams in securing long-term seven-figure per annum "Founding Partner" relationships for the new stadium; in addition, they forged many other substantial six-figure per annum agreements. He also completed top-tier industry agreements for Eagles radio and television coverage and concession agreements for Lincoln Financial Field. Behind Komoroski's leadership, the organization secured major soccer events, concerts, Division I college football games and the Army/Navy Game, establishing Lincoln Financial Field as one of the most active stadiums in sports. Through these efforts and events the Eagles have become one of the highest grossing franchises in professional sports.

This is Komoroski's second stint in the NBA, having been with the Minnesota Timberwolves from 1988-94 and having played a major role in the start-up of the team and its arena, the Target Center. While Komoroski was vice president of sales and the senior sales and marketing official for the team and arena, the Timberwolves became one of the most financially successful organizations in the league. After Minnesota, he came to Cleveland as senior vice president and chief operating officer of the International Hockey League's (IHL) Cleveland Lumberjacks, and immediately transformed the Lumberjacks into a flourishing enterprise. Both attendance and revenues saw sharp increases during Komoroski's time, and the Lumberjacks were one of three profitable IHL teams in 1996.

Komoroski got his start in sports in 1982 with the Pittsburgh Spirit of the Major Indoor Soccer League, followed by management roles with the Pittsburgh Penguins of the National Hockey League and the Minnesota Strikers of the MISL, and as a regional manager for the Miller Brewing Company's sports marketing arm.

Komoroski's achievements in professional sports have attracted considerable attention, and he has assumed leadership positions in several capacities. He is on the board of directors of the Cleveland chapters of City Year, the American Red Cross, American Cancer Society Golf Tournament and the United Way, as well as the board of Positively Cleveland. He is also a member of the Young Presidents Organization, the 50 Club and the Bluecoats.

Komoroski is a 1982 cum laude graduate of Duquesne University. He and his wife Denise are the parents of three daughters – Kristin, Kelly, Jamie and one son, Zachary.

BASKETBALL STAFF

General Manager

Danny Ferry was named the eighth general manager in Cleveland Cavaliers history on June 27, 2005.

In his four seasons with the Cavaliers, Ferry has focused on building a championship-caliber culture. He has lead the team through many successful signings and acquisitions which helped accomplish a franchise-high 66-win season in 2008-09 and back-to-back 50-win seasons (2005-07). The Cavs are currently the only team to advance to at least the second round of the playoffs in each of the past four seasons, including the franchise's first-ever trip to the NBA Finals (2007) under Ferry's leadership.

In addition to player acquisitions, Ferry also oversees all scouting, player personnel and day-to-day activities of the Cavaliers' basketball operations team.

Ferry spent two seasons from 2003-2005 as the director of basketball operations for the San Antonio Spurs. As the director of basketball operations for the Spurs, Ferry was actively involved in all aspects of the basketball operations department with an emphasis on the draft and free agency. He also aided in the strategic planning for Spurs Sports and Entertainment.

During his time in the Spurs front office, San Antonio compiled a combined regular season and playoff record of 138-59 (.701). While in San Antonio, he won NBA Championships as both a member of the front office (2005) and as a player (2003).

Ferry, a 13-year NBA veteran, played the final three years of his career in San Antonio (2000-03). Prior to that, he spent 10 seasons in Cleveland as a member of the Cavaliers. Mike Brown was named the 17th head coach in Cleveland Cavaliers history on June 2, 2005. In his first four seasons at the helm of the Cavaliers, Brown has quickly recorded the best winning percentage of any coach in the team's 39-year history.

Brown earned Coach of the Year honors after the 2008-2009 season, was named Coach of the Month three times during the season (December, February and March) and along with his coaching staff earned the opportunity to coach the Eastern Conference All-Star Team at the 2009 All-Star Game in Phoenix, Arizona. One of the NBA's top young coaches, Brown also led the Cavaliers to becoming only the 12th team in NBA history to have 66 wins, a franchise high. With a combined regular season record of 211-117 (.643), which is the fifth-best record in the NBA over the last four years, Brown has posted at least 45 wins in each season. This represents the first time in franchise history that Cleveland reached at least that mark in four straight seasons. After posting a 50-32 record in 2005-06, which was the most wins as a first-year head coach in team history, Brown became the first rookie head coach since the 2001-02 season to post 50 wins in a season. Brown followed that up with another 50-win season (50-32) in his second year, 45 wins (45-37) in his third year and 66 wins (66-16) in his fourth year.

In the postseason, Cleveland is the only team to have reached at least the second round of the playoffs in each of the last four seasons and one of just six teams in the NBA that qualified for the playoffs in each of the last four seasons. In those four playoff appearances, Brown has led the team to a record of 36-24 (.600), which tied for the second-best playoff winning percentage in the NBA over that span, and 7-4 (.636) in playoff series, making him the winningest playoff head coach in team history. It was also the first time in franchise history the team had a winning record in four consecutive postseasons.

During his first playoff run as head coach, Brown led Cleveland to the Eastern Conference Semifinals in the 2006 Playoffs and became the first coach in franchise history to lead his team to a playoff series win in his first season by defeating Washington 4-2 in the First Round of the Eastern Conference Playoffs in 2006. In the 2007 Playoffs, Brown led the Cavaliers to their first Eastern Conference Championship and a trip to the NBA Finals after Cleveland knocked off the Pistons 4-2 in the Eastern Conference Finals. He guided the Cavaliers to their first series sweep in the first round versus Washington and then led Cleveland to a 4-2 win in the conference semifinals against New Jersey. In the 2008 Playoffs, the Cavaliers defeated the Washington Wizards 4-2 before taking the eventual NBA Champion Boston Celtics to a seven-game series.

In the 2009 playoffs, the team swept the first two rounds, over the Detroit Pistons and Atlanta Hawks, for the first time in franchise history. The team finished the postseason at 10-4 (.714), which is the best record based on winning percentage in franchise history and the second-highest number of wins in a postseason, trailing only the 2007 playoffs when the team went 12-8 (.600).

Brown joined the Cavaliers after spending two seasons as the associate head coach of the Indiana Pacers and three seasons as an assistant coach for the San Antonio Spurs. His career record as an assistant coach was 341-201 (.629) and he won a division title with Indiana in 2003-04 and three straight division titles with San Antonio. He helped lead Indiana to consecutive playoff appearances including a trip to the Eastern Conference Finals in 2004. He was also on the bench for the Spurs during their 2003 World Championship season. While with the Spurs, Brown's teams won at least 58 games each season. He also was the head coach for the Spurs' summer league teams in Boston and Salt Lake City.

Brown spent three years with the Washington Wizards' staff beginning in 1997, spending the first two years as an assistant under Bernie Bickerstaff, and his final year as the team's professional scout.

The 39-year-old (born March 5, 1970 in Columbus, Ohio) began his NBA career with the Denver Nuggets in 1992, where he spent five seasons, first as the team's video coordinator and then as a scout.

HIGHEST WINNING % OF CAVS HEAD COACHES

HEAD COACH	RECORD	YEARS
MIKE BROWN	211-117 (.643)	2005-09
Lenny Wilkens	316-258 (.551)	1986-93
Mike Fratello	248-212 (.539)	1993-99
Paul Silas	69-77 (.473)	2003-05
Stan Albeck	37-45 (.451)	1979-80

Coach Brown was named NBA Coach of the Year after receiving the Eastern Conference Coach of the Month award three times during the season (December, February, March). It was the first time in franchise history a head coach has won the yearly award and the monthly award more than once in a single season. Brown was also named the Eastern Conference Head Coach for the 2009 NBA All-Star Game in Phoenix. He became only the second coach in Cavaliers franchise history to coach an All-Star Game, joining Lenny Wilkens, who coached the Eastern Conference in the 1989 All-Star Game. On Feb. 22, Brown coached his 300th game and with a record of 188-112 (.627) ranked 5th among active head coaches for wins in their first 300 games (220 - Phil Jackson, 206 - Rick Adelman, 190 - Stan Van Gundy, 189 - Rick Carlisle). On March 19th, Brown won his 200th game (200-114), ranking fourth among current head coaches in fewest games (314) to reach 200 wins (Jackson, Adelman, S. Van Gundy). Brown has led the Cavaliers to the postseason each year and has a record of 36-24 (.600), which gives him the most playoff wins in Cavs history.

LEBRON'S LEAD: LeBron James' all-around game and leadership led the Cavaliers to the NBA's best record while becoming the league MVP, which was the first time a Cavalier has ever received the award. James was the team leader in total points (2,304), rebounds (613), assists (587), steals (137) and blocks (93). Since steals and blocks became an official stat in the 1973-74 season, James (66 wins) became the fourth player to lead his team in scoring, rebounding, assists and steals per game, while also leading his team to 50+ wins. The only other players are Larry Bird in 1985-86 (67 wins), Grant Hill in 1996-97 (54 wins) and Kevin Garnett in 2002-03 (51 wins). James led the team in all three categories (points, rebounds and assists) in a game 16 times this season. No other player in the league has done that more than six times during the season and it's the most such games for any NBA player since James himself had 16 such games in the 2005-06 season. James led the NBA in points per game on the road this season at 31.5 on .479 shooting and has scored at least 20 points in 39 straight road games dating back to the beginning of November 2008. Those 39 games are tied for most games since 1991-92 (A. Iverson, Dec. 3, 2004 - Dec. 10, 2005). In sitting out 13 fourth quarters this season, LeBron James had the highest fourth quarter scoring average in the NBA for fourth quarters actually played. James averaged 7.6 points per game in the fourth quarter (515 pts, 68 games).

AWARD TOUR: During the 2008-09 season, LeBron James earned numerous NBA honors while Head Coach Mike Brown received major recognition from the NBA for the first time in his career. On April 20th, Brown joined only Bill Fitch as Cavaliers coaches to be named the NBA's Coach of the Year. On May 4th, James was named the NBA's Most Valuable Player for the 2008-09 season, becoming the first player in Cavaliers franchise history to be named MVP. James totaled 1,172 points, including 109 of 121 first place votes, from a panel of 121 sportswriters and broadcasters. His 474-point margin of victory is the 6th-largest in MVP voting history (media began voting 1980-81 season). On May 13th, James was a unanimous selection to the All-NBA First Team, with all 122 first-team votes. James became the eighth player since 1981-82 to earn that distinction, joining M. Jordan (four times), L. Bird (three), K. Malone (two), M. Johnson (one), C. Barkley (one), S. O'Neal (one) and K. Bryant (one). Two days later on May 15th, James was named to the NBA All-Defensive First Team. James received 47 votes, the third-most overall, including 22 first-place votes and joins Larry Nance (1988-89) as the only players in franchise history to ever be voted to the first team.

MAN OF THE MONTH: LeBron James had several stretches of games for the ages this season. On his way to becoming only the second NBA player to be named Eastern Conference Player of the Month four times in one season (October, January, March, April) and Eastern Conference Player of the Week a league-record seven times and posting averages of 28.4 points, 7.6 rebounds and 7.2 assists per game, James had some memorable game performances and stretches of games each month. Here's a look at some of James' signature stretches of games:

NOVEMBER: In a span of four games, James scored 41 points three times, all against Central Division opponents: tallying 41 points, nine rebounds and six assists against Chicago on Nov. 5, three days later 41 points, 13 rebounds and four assists in Chicago on Nov 8 and 41 points, five rebounds and six assists versus Milwaukee.

DECEMBER: James scored 30+ points in four straight road victories: 33 points, nine rebounds, six assists and four steals on Dec. 13 at Atlanta, 32 points, six rebounds and six rebounds, three assists and two steals on Dec. 17 at Minnesota, 33 points, 10 rebounds and eight assists on Dec. 19 at Denver and 31 points, four rebounds and seven assists on Dec. 21 at Oklahoma City.

JANUARY: James went on a triple-double tirade with three in the month, the first one being a 16-point, 10-rebound and 11-assist performance versus Chicago on Jan. 2, then a 30-point, 11-rebound and 10-assist game on Jan. 13 at Memphis and last but not least, a 23-point, 15-rebound and 11-assist performance versus Sacramento on Jan. 27.

FEBRUARY: James started the month with back-to-back 33-point games at Detroit on Feb. 1 and versus Toronto on Feb. 3. In the next game against New York on Feb. 4, James erupted for 52 points, nine rebounds and 11 assists. Two games later, he scored 47 points to go along with seven rebounds and four assists at Indiana on Feb. 10 and two games after the All-Star Break tore through Milwaukee on Feb. 20 for a season-high 55 points and nine rebounds.

MARCH: The month featured three more triple-doubles for James - this time in back-to-back-to-back games for the first time in his career. On March 7, James tallied the first of his three consecutive triple double with 14 points, 10 rebounds and 12 assists versus Miami, then 32 points, 13 rebounds and 11 assists against the Clippers on March 10 and then again on March 12 with 34 points, 10 rebounds and 13 assists at Phoenix. In that three-game stretch, James averaged 26.7 points, 12.0 assists and 11.0 rebounds. In the next game to close out a West Coast road trip, James scored 51 points at Sacramento on March 13.

APRIL: James posted three games of 30+ points in eight games for the month: 31 points, nine rebounds and six assists at Washington on April 2, 38 points, seven rebounds and six assists on April 5 versus San Antonio and then 37 points, five rebounds and five assists at Indiana on April 13 in his last game played of the regular season.

2008-09 Cavaliers Season Game Notes

FOUR SCORE: LeBron James became the second player in league history to post four seasons of 2,000 or more points, 500 or more rebounds and 500 or more assists in a season, joining Oscar Robertson who accomplished the feat six times in his career. In his 6th season, James became the ninth player in NBA history to have at least five consecutive 2,000 point seasons. He's the only active player to do so and joins Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, George Gervin, Michael Jordan, Wilt Chamberlain, Dominique Wilkins, Oscar Robertson, Alex English and Karl Malone all-time. The last player with five-or-more consecutive 2,000-point seasons this early in his pro career was Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, who did it in his first five seasons in the NBA (1969-70 to 1973-74).

THE ROYAL GUARD: LeBron James' defensive prowess had a major impact on the Cavaliers top defensive ranking and he was rewarded with making the NBA All-Defensive First Team for the first time in his career. James was the only player in the NBA ranked in the Top 30 in all three of the following categories: rebounds per game (7.6 - 27th), blocks per game (1.1 – 23rd) and steals per game (1.7 - 8th). With 137 steals and 93 blocks, he is only one of two players to belong to the NBA's 100 steals - 90 blocks club (Wade – 173 steals /106 blocks). James' 230 combined blocks and steals are the third most (D. Howard, D. Wade) in the league this season. James also perfected a signature defensive move resulting in a block, called the "Chase Down," which was coined by Cavaliers Play-By-Play Announcer Fred McLeod. This highlight move is when on a fast break, James literally comes out of nowhere to block a player's layup, usually against the backboard, which moments before seemed uncontested. James finished the season with a total of 22 "chase downs".

MO BETTER: Cavaliers point guard Mo Williams averaged a career-best 17.8 points on .467 shooting, 3.4 rebounds and 4.1 assists for the season and got stronger after the All-Star break (chart below). He had 10 games this season with 20 points and five assists (10-0) and led the team in scoring 11 times. The Cavaliers were 26-5 (.839) when Williams scored more than 20 points in a game, 5-0 when he scored 30 points in a game and 33-4 (.892) when he shot at least .500. The point guard finished the season ranked 2nd (D. Harris) among Eastern Conference point guards in scoring and is one of only two players (S. Nash) in the NBA shooting at least .460 from the field, .430 from three-point range and .900 from the free throw line. Williams made 183 three-pointers and shot .436 from the three-point line. Among Cavalier players who have taken at least 275 three-pointers in a season, only one person has ever made more three-pointers and shot a higher percentage in franchise history from behind the arc than Williams this season. That was Wesley Person (192 makes on .444 shooting) in the 2001-02 season. Williams shot a career best .912 from the free throw line, which is the fourth-best mark in franchise history. In addition to increasing his three-point percentage each full month this season, Williams has increased his overall percentage 5.1 percent from last season (.385 to .436), which represents the 4th highest increase in the NBA (K. Durant, A. Bargnani, D. Cook). (min. 200 att. in both seasons).

DELONTE'S INFERNO: Delonte West continues to play the best basketball of his career as a Cavalier as he proved to be one of the team's most versatile players with his ballhandling, scoring, rebounding and defense on some of the league's best scoring guards and forwards. West also led the team in minutes played (42.2) during the playoffs and was 3rd in minutes played (33.6) during the regular season. In two postseasons as a Cavalier, West averaged 12.4 points, 3.4 rebounds, 4.1 assists and 1.3 steals.

ANDY'S ENERGY: In 2008-09, Anderson Varejao was one of the NBA's most unsung heroes in the NBA. Whether in a starting or reserve role, Varejao contributed at a high level across the board. He averaged a career high of 8.6 points on a career best .536 shooting and 7.2 rebounds, which was the third highest on the team. As a starter, Varejao averaged 9.9 points on .542 shooting and 7.7 rebounds. Varejao also ranked in the Top 3 for offensive fouls taken in the NBA after leading the league last season.

Cavaliers All-Time Retired Jerseys

Nate Thurmond (No. 42)
Height: 6-11 Weight: 235
Position: Center
Jersey Retired on Dec. 18, 1977

Long before Nate Thurmond had arrived to the Cleveland Cavaliers on Nov. 27, 1975 and led the five-year old franchise to its first playoff appearance had Thurmond held a warm spot in the hearts of Northeast Ohioans.

Born Nathaniel Thurmond on July 25, 1941 in Akron, Ohio, the 6-foot-11 center starred at Akron's Central Hower High School before taking his talents to Bowling Green State University. As a Falcon, Thurmond averaged 17.8 points and 17.0 rebounds over three varsity seasons, earning All-America honors as a senior in 1963.

Drafted by the San Francisco Warriors with the third overall pick in the 1963 NBA Draft, Thurmond learned behind Wilt Chamberlain for a full season before the Warriors traded Chamberlain midway through the following season clearing room for Thurmond to flourish. A dominant defensive player whom Chamberlain and Kareem Abdul-Jabbar both credited as their toughest defender, Thurmond was named to the NBA All-Defensive First or Second-Team on five occasions (1969, '71-74) and was honored as an NBA All-Star seven times (1965-68, '70, '73-74). Thurmond is also acknowledged in NBA history as the first player to ever record a quadruple-double.

Thurmond was traded to the Chicago Bulls after 11 seasons as a Warrior and two trips to the NBA Finals (1964 and 1967). Thurmond spent two seasons in Chicago before the Cavaliers acquired the center for Steve Patterson and Eric Fernsten.

Home in Ohio again Thurmond led the 1975-76 Cavaliers team that started 6-11 without him to a 43-22 finish and the playoffs, helping give birth to the season better known as "the Miracle of Richfield".

The following season would be Thurmond's last as he retired at the end of the season. He was inducted in the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in 1984 and named to the NBA 50th Anniversary All-Time Team in 1996.

The Cavaliers retired his jersey on Dec. 18, 1977.

Bobby "Bingo" Smith (No. 7)
Height: 6-6 Weight: 195
Position: Small Forward
Jersey Retired on Dec. 4, 1979

On May 11, 1970, the Cleveland Cavaliers drafted 11 players in the 1970 Expansion Draft. Two never put on a Cavaliers uniform. Of the remaining nine, all but one played four seasons or less in Cleveland.

The one, Bobby Smith, played 10 seasons and over 700 games with the Cavaliers, helping to shape and mold the young expansion team into playoff contenders.

Better known as "Bingo", Smith spent his rookie season with the San Diego Rockets before being selected by the Cavaliers in the Expansion Draft. Smith and his patented 'rainbow jumper' became bright spots through Cleveland's early years as the team quickly improved. With each passing season, the versatile small forward remained a constant and consistent performer even leading the 1974-75 Cavaliers that finished 40-42 and one game out of the playoffs in scoring at 15.9 points per game.

The following season Cleveland made the playoffs for the first time and Smith added a bit of magic to the season that has become known as the "Miracle of Richfield". With home court advantage already lost and the Cavaliers trailing in their first round series against the favored Washington Bullets, 0-1, Smith and his rainbow jumpers helped Cleveland find a pot of gold. In Washington for Game 2, Smith scored a team-leading 17 points and made the game-winning shot with just seconds remaining to secure the 80-79 victory. The win served as the first playoff victory for the franchise and propelled the Cavaliers past the Bullets and into the Eastern Conference Finals against Boston where they eventually fell in six games.

Smith played four more seasons in Cleveland, helping guide the Cavaliers to the playoffs two more times before finishing his career with the San Diego Clippers for one season.

"Bingo" ranks in the top 10 all-time in franchise history in six different categories [Games played (2nd), field goals made (2nd), field goals attempted (3rd), minutes played (4th) and points scored (6th).

The Cavaliers retired his jersey on Dec. 4, 1979.

Austin Carr (No. 34)
Height: 6-4 Weight: 200
Position: Shooting Guard
Jersey Retired on Jan. 3, 1981

Going into their second season as a franchise, the Cleveland Cavaliers held the No. 1 overall pick in the 1971 NBA Draft and aimed to get an impact player. With their pick, the Cavaliers selected Austin Carr, a high-scoring shooting guard and two-time All-American at Notre Dame.

Carr proved not only to be the impact player the Cavaliers sought, but much more.

As a rookie, Carr immediately became the top option on offense, averaging 21.2 points and becoming the first Cavalier named to the All-NBA Rookie Team. Known as "A.C." by teammates and fans alike, the sweet-shooting fan favorite averaged 20 or more points the following two seasons, highlighted by Carr's selection as an all-star in 1974.

Just as Carr began to reach elite status in the NBA, misfortune struck. On Dec. 5, 1974, Carr suffered a knee injury that eventually cut short his season and forced him to undergo surgery.

Carr persevered and returned strong, playing in all 82 games in three of the following four seasons. Even after the injury, Carr's impact as a scorer and leader remained present as he never averaged less than double-digits in his career and led the Cavaliers to the playoffs on three occasions during his nine-year tenure in Cleveland.

After the 1979-80 season, Carr's final with the Cavaliers, he won the Walter Kennedy Citizenship Award for his substantial contributions to the Cleveland community.

Carr is placed second in field goals made and attempted and ranks third in points scored among all players to don a Cavaliers uniform. He also ranks among the franchise leaders in free throws made (6th) and attempted (5th) and minutes played (6th).

For his efforts on and off the floor, Carr was selected by 32 members of the media in Northeast Ohio to the Cavaliers' All-Time Starting Five during the Cavaliers 30th Anniversary season of 1999-2000.

He remains deeply involved in the organization serving as Director of Community and Business Development as well as the full-time analyst for the Cavaliers Television Network.

Height: 6-10 Weight: 235
Position: Power Forward

Undoubtedly, the 1986 NBA Draft that landed the Cavaliers Brad Daugherty, Ron Harper and Mark Price brought a youthful injection of much-needed talent and skilled players to an evolving franchise. The acquisition of the three college stars instantly made the Cavaliers good.

But perhaps it was the final acquisition of power forward Larry Nance that made the Cavaliers go from good to great and led to one of the most successful eras in team history. On Feb. 25, 1988, Cleveland sent Kevin Johnson, Mark West, Tyrone Corbin, a first-round draft choice in 1988 and two second-round picks to Phoenix in exchange for Nance, Mike Sanders and Detroit's first-round pick in 1988.

Known as "Leapin' Larry" for the dunking prowess that made him the first-ever Slam Dunk Champion in 1984 and his strong shot-blocking skills, Nance brought his high-flying, power game and six years of experience to a team in desperate need of a veteran.

Nance filled the void remarkably, helping the Cavaliers make the playoffs by winning 11 of their final 13 games that season.

The following season was one of the best in franchise history as the Cavaliers won a then franchise-best 57 games (which was later tied by the 1991-92 team that Nance also starred on) and went 37-4 at home. Nance was named an NBA All-Star for the first of two times in 1989 and was joined on the squad by Daugherty, Price and Head Coach Lenny Wilkens.

Spearheaded by the trio of Nance, Daugherty and Price, the Cavaliers made the playoffs in each season the group played together besides 1990-91, where Price was limited to just 16 games after tearing his ACL.

A tenacious defender, Nance is one of only two players in franchise history to be named to the All-Defensive First Team (1988-89) and the only Cavalier to make the team three times (1988-89, 91-92 and 92-93).

He ranks among the Cavaliers All-Time leaders in blocked shots (3rd), field goal percentage (3rd), rebounds (5th), field goals made and attempted (8th), minutes played (9th) and free throws made (9th) and attempted (10th).

Nance was named to the Cavaliers' All-Time Starting Five by 32 members of the Northeast Ohio media during the Cavaliers 30th Anniversary season.

The Cavaliers retired his jersey on Jan. 30, 1995.

Brad Daugherty (No. 43)
Height: 7-0 Weight: 263
Position: Center
Jersey Retired on March. 1, 1997

10,389 points scored. 5,227 rebounds grabbed. 2,741 free throws made. 3,670 free throws attempted. Five all-star appearances made.

Those numbers represent the various statistics that Brad Daugherty led the Cavaliers franchise in at the time of his retirement and why he is one of the greatest players in franchise history.

The number one overall draft pick of the 1986 NBA Draft, the 7-foot center was pivotal along with then-fellow rookies Ron Harper, John Williams and Mark Price in re-energizing and improving the franchise. The multi-skilled Daugherty was named to the All-Rookie Team and quickly joined elite status as an NBA center while leading the Cavaliers to the same as a team.

Daugherty played in the first of five all-star games in 1988 and then led the Cavaliers to the playoffs for the first time in three seasons that April. The following season Daugherty and the Cavaliers won a then franchise-record 57 games, including going 37-4 at home.

After an injury-plagued 1989-90 season in which Daugherty missed the first 41 games, Daugherty returned to all-star status. He became the first and remains the only player in franchise history to average 20 or more points and 10 or more rebounds in the same season. He reached that feat in three consecutive seasons (1990-93), being named an all-star in the process each of those years.

In the 1992 NBA Playoffs, Daugherty cemented his place as one of the best in the league by leading the Cavaliers to the Eastern Conference Finals. He averaged 21.5 points on .528 field goal shooting, 10.2 rebounds, 3.4 assists and 1.0 block in 40.4 minutes per game during the 17-game run. In the first round against New Jersey, he scored a then Cavalier playoff record 40 points on April 23.

Cleveland made the playoffs in all of the seasons Daugherty played but two and he led the Cavaliers in scoring in all but three of his seasons.

Just entering the prime of his career at 28, Daugherty suffered an ill-fated career-ending herniated lumbar disc in mid-February of the 1993-94 season.

Despite having his outstanding career cut short, the North Carolina native had already broken the afore-mentioned Cavalier records. He remains in the top 10 all-time in points (2nd), field goal percentage (2nd), minutes played (3rd), field goals made (5th) and field goals attempted (5th), scoring average (5th), assists (6th), blocked shots (7th) and steals (9th).

As part of the Cavaliers 30th Anniversary in 1999-2000, Daugherty was unanimously named by 32 members of the Northeast Ohio media to the Cavaliers' All-Time Starting Five. He was the only player to garner all 32 votes.

The Cavaliers retired his jersey on March 1, 1997.

Mark Price (No. 25)
Height: 6-0 Weight: 180
Position: Point Guard
Jersey Retired on November. 13, 1999

They say lightning doesn't strike twice in the same place, but for the Cavaliers on draft day in 1986, it did.

Prior to the draft on June 17, Cleveland acquired the top overall pick from Philadelphia in exchange for Roy Hinson and considerations. With the first pick in the 1986 NBA Draft, Cleveland selected center Brad Daugherty.

At the top of the second round, the Dallas Mavericks selected Mark Price with the 25th overall pick. Quickly, the Cavaliers traded their second-round draft pick in 1989 and other considerations with Dallas in exchange for the rights to the 6-foot All-American from Georgia Tech.

Unknowingly then, the Cavaliers acquired two of the greatest players in franchise history that day. Price and Daugherty helped the team turn the corner and join the NBA's elite while becoming the cornerstones of the Cavaliers' franchise.

While Daugherty started as a rookie, Price learned on the bench for a year before unseating John Bagley. Once a starter, Price never looked back.

Widely regarded as one of the best shooters in NBA history, Price and his picture-perfect release guided the Cavaliers to one of their most successful runs in franchise history. With the exception of the 1990-91 season in which he tore his ACL and played only 16 games, the Cavaliers made the playoffs and won at least 42 games every year Price was a starter.

The sweet-shooting point guard was named an All-Star four times (1989, 1992-94) and at the time of his retirement was the only Cavalier to be named to an All-NBA Team more than once (1988-89, 1991-94), including All-NBA First Team in 1992-93.

Price led the NBA in free throw percentage twice (1991-92, '92-93) and won the NBA's Long Distance Shootout in back-to-back years (1993-94).

Not just a shooter, Price ranked in the top 10 in the league in assists in five of his nine seasons as a Cavalier.

For his career, Price ranks first among all Cavaliers in three-point field goals made and attempted and assists. He also ranks among the top 10 all-time in franchise history in steals (2nd), free throw percentage (2nd), points scored (5th), three-point field goal percentage (5th), free throws made (5th), field goals made (6th), field goals attempted (6th), games played (6th), minutes played (7th) and free throws attempted (7th).

Price was named to the Cavaliers' All-Time Starting Five by 32 members of the Northeast Ohio media during the Cavaliers 30th Anniversary season. He was also the leading vote-getter on the Cavs All-Time Team, as voted on by the Cleveland fans.

The Cavaliers retired his jersey on November 13, 1999.

Cavaliers Uniform/Logos History

By Joe Gabriele

Did you know that the famous saying, “Clothes make the man” was a quote by Mark Twain? (And if so, did you know the rest of that quote says, “Naked people have little or no influence on society”?)

The Cavaliers have had their share of unique threads over their 39-year history. Cleveland has changed their look 10 times, going full circle – kind of – when they returned to the wine and gold on April 16, 2003. One day after completing a 17-65 season and five weeks before they won the rights to draft an 18-year-old from Akron.

Granted, it was a new expression of the wine and gold, but the Cavaliers current threads are among the league’s most popular, something that could not have been said of the previous uniforms. The 18-year-old from Akron had a lot to do with it – in one survey after the uniform switch, LeBron James jersey was No. 1 in sales, the Cavaliers uniform, No. 4. But a lot of it has to do with the fact that Cleveland’s most recent uniforms are just – for lack of a better expression – really cool.

Fans identified with the wine and gold. Not only are they attractive colors as well as the team’s original flavor. But the items themselves – “wine” and “gold” – fit perfectly with the swashbuckling theme of a Cavalier. The Cavaliers don’t just wear the wine and gold, they are the Wine and Gold. The same way Ohio State is the Scarlet and Grey or Michigan is the Maize and Blue.

In between the current attire and the first expression of wine and gold back in 1970, the Cavaliers have dabbled in burnt orange, royal blue, bright orange black and pastel blue. There have been three seismic uniform shifts in the franchise’s 36 years, not all good.

In 1970, the inaugural Cavaliers donned the original gold uniforms at their 11,000 seat venue – the old Cleveland Arena – on Euclid and 37th. The Cavaliers went with gold at home and wine on the road, a tradition that they continued throughout their first 13 years in the league.

The first uni’s had the feathered underscore of “Cavaliers” on each jersey, home and road. The logo, which has (thankfully) survived throughout the club’s three-and-half decades, had the words “Cleveland Cavaliers” wrapped around a basketball and featured a silhouette of a Cavalier figure jousting with his sword. The logo is every bit as recognizable to Clevelanders as the Indians’ “Chief Wahoo.”

Cleveland’s new expression of the old expression of the wine and gold came about in 1974 and made their triumphant comeback in 2005. The garb that adorned the “Miracle of Richfield” team featured piping with short horizontal stripes of wine, gold and white stacked along the sides of the shirts and shorts. Again, both the home and away jerseys read “Cavaliers.”

Long before the current club donned the Miracle jerseys in an actual game – a 104-79 drubbing of the Knicks on January 8, 2005 – you could see rappers adorned in No. 34 Austin Carr attire on BET or on the streets from Cleveland to the Big Apple.

In 1981, as the final remnants of the Miracle squad faded into the sunset, the Cavaliers went to a wine and gold scheme that is more reminiscent of today’s colors than the original hues. The Mike Mitchell-era team went with a metallic gold with a pair of horizontal stripes with the word “Cleveland” written above it in block letters.

The organization and the team were making big changes in the 1980s and the radical departure from the club’s original colors – and its identity – came in the form of the burnt orange and royal blue threads with the word “CAVS” written across the chest. The “V” was designed like a hoop with a ball entering it, which also served as Cleveland’s new logo.

The Cavaliers retained the colors – and slight variations on the look – throughout their final, and highly successful, years at the Richfield Coliseum. The burnt orange as the primary road color was replaced by the royal blue road uniforms in 1987 and the “CAVS” logo was replaced with the block “Cleveland” before the 1989 season.

This attire will forever be linked to the Lenny Wilkens era of excellence that featured the likes of Mark Price, Brad Daugherty, Larry Nance and Hot Rod Williams.

When the Cavaliers began play at Quicken Loans Arena in the 1994-95 season, there was once again a radical departure from the previous look. From the wine and gold to the burnt orange and royal blue, the Cavaliers went with pastel blue and black. Home uniforms were white, road black, with a blue splash across the torso and lined lettering that said “CAVS” at home and “Cleveland” on the road, both outlined in orange.

The Cavaliers modified this look in 1997, sticking with the color scheme, but losing the mystifying torso splash. Instead, the uniforms featured a more streamlined blue and orange piping along the right side of the shirts and shorts. The futuristic lined letters remained.

But in October of 2002, then-owner Gordon Gund decided to bring Cavaliers fans back to the future when he announced, “Our fans take pride in our team and really identify with the things that make Cleveland different. They want a team whose identity was ‘true to Cleveland.’ With that in mind, we set out to have colors, logos and uniforms that reflect our history and look forward at the same time. These new marks represent what our fans and we believe is the right match for Cleveland and for the Cavaliers.”

The new colors were announced on October 9 – the current “new expression of wine and gold” – a crimson-hued wine color and a metallic gold, similar to 1981 uni’s. Dark blue, the secondary color, was a tribute to the Cavalier teams of the 1990s.

The Cavaliers uniforms may undergo more changes as the LeBron James era unfolds, especially in light of the team’s new ownership. But old school Cavalier fans are just glad that the team recognized its roots and the colors that best represent the team and the city.

Like the Boston Celtics green or the Oakland Raiders black and silver, the Cavaliers are their best in the wine and gold. It’s no surprise that the Cavaliers are now lined up for big things. After all, the clothes make the man.

Freed often referred to himself as the "Moondog" and his listeners as "Moondoggers."

The Cavaliers' Moondog is dedicated to following in the spirit of the original. Alan Freed was innovative, fun-loving, passionate and controversial. Moondog promises to be the same.

Single-game credentials can be picked up at the media entrance, located at the east side of Quicken Loans Arena (off of East 6th street, adjacent to the Cavaliers Team Shop). Joe Tait

Vice President, Broadcasting

Joe Tait will return for his 38th season as the voice of the Cleveland Cavaliers. As the club's radio play-by-play announcer, Tait has become one of the most recognizable and popular members of the Cavaliers, on or off the court. On March 26th, 2008, when the Cavaliers hosted the New Orleans Hornets, Tait broadcasted his 3,000th Cavaliers game, further illustrating his long and memorable tenure as the voice of the Cleveland Cavaliers.

Tait began as the radio play-by-play announcer for the Cavaliers eight games into their inaugural season in 1970. For the first 11 years of Cavaliers history, he was the voice that let everyone know "It's basketball time at The Coliseum" (or, "It's basketball time at the Cleveland Arena" until the 1974-75 season). During that time, he became an institution in the area while earning a reputation as one of the top sportscasters in the country.

In 1981, he left Cleveland to become the radio play-by-play announcer of the New Jersey Nets. A year later he handled the play-by-play of Chicago Bulls games on SportsVision, the team's cable-TV outlet, and broadcast the CBS Radio College Game-of-the-Week. When Gordon and George Gund III took over ownership of the Cavaliers in 1983, one of the first moves they made was to bring Tait back to the Cavaliers radio post for the 1983-84 season.

In December 1987, Tait was named Vice President, Broadcasting for the Cavaliers. In that full-time role, Tait was involved in all aspects of the Cavaliers radio and television broadcasting, while continuing his duties as radio broadcaster. From 1987-88 to 1992-93, Tait also performed the television play-by-play duties for the 20 games each season which were telecast on WOIO-19 and the Cavaliers Television Network. For the past 15 seasons, Tait has broadcasted all 82 games on News Radio WTAM 1100 and the Cavaliers Radio Network which covers most of the state of Ohio and parts of Pennsylvania. Tait also served as the radio play-by-play voice of the WNBA Cleveland Rockers from 1997 to 2003.

When the team moved from the Coliseum back to downtown Cleveland for the 1994-95 season, Tait had to again change his famous lead-in from "It's basketball time at The Coliseum" to "It's basketball time at Gund Arena." Now entering year number five of the Dan Gilbert led era of Cavaliers basketball, “It’s Basketball Time at Quicken Loans Arena” is the lead-in for each broadcast.

Prior to his full-time association with the Cavaliers, Tait broadcast Cleveland Indians baseball for 16 years. He has also done selected college basketball games that were carried nationally on the CBS Radio network. Tait was named the 2004 "Sportscaster of the Year in Ohio." He also received the honor in 1974, 1976, 1978, 1991, 1996, 1999 and 2002. In addition, Tait was voted the best radio/TV announcer in the area in a poll conducted by the Cleveland Plain Dealer in 1985 and 1986. Tait kept active during the summer of 1992 as the play-by-play voice of the World Basketball League on both SportsChannel America and ESPN.

A graduate of Monmouth College in Illinois, Tait began his radio career while still in college, broadcasting local sports events in the Illinois/Indiana area. In 1969, Tait became the network voice of Indiana University football and the pregame host of Indiana Pacers basketball in the old ABA. A year later, with the birth of the Cavaliers, Tait began his association with the club. Also, Tait was a sportscasting instructor at Ohio University (1966-68) and at Mount Union College (1989-1994). In the fall of 1996, Tait was named to the Board of Trustees for Mount Union College in Alliance, Ohio, where he has been the TV voice of the Purple Raiders for 19 seasons.

Throughout his broadcasting career, Tait has been honored with a number of awards, including being elected to the Monmouth College Athletic Hall of Fame in October 1991, to the Media Hall of Fame by the Sports Media Association of Cleveland and Ohio (S.M.A.C.O.) in September 1992 and to the Broadcasters Hall of Fame in October 1992. In November 1996, Tait was awarded the C.S. Williams Founders Award by the Broadcasters Hall of Fame for long and meritorious service in broadcasting. They have recently given him The Broadcasting Legacy Award for 2004. In the summer of 2001, he was inducted into the Cleveland Sports Legends Hall of Fame and the Lorain Sports Hall of Fame. He was also inducted into the Cleveland Press Club Hall of Fame in September of 2003.

In January 2008, Tait joined some very select company when he received the prestigious “Lifetime Achievement Award,” presented annually by the Greater Cleveland Sports Commission. Other Cleveland Sports Legends that have received this honor include Jim Brown, Bob Feller, Dick Jacobs, Mark McCormick and Herb Score.

Tait and his wife, Jean, reside in Lafayette, Ohio.

Eight teams in each conference qualify for NBA Playoffs 2009 which begin on Saturday, April 18. The first four seeds in each conference will continue to be given to the three division winners and the team with the next best regular season record, but these four teams will now be seeded in order of their regular season records. The remaining four teams are ranked Nos. 5–8 according to their won-lost records. The team with the better regular season won-lost record has homecourt advantage in each round of the playoffs.

NBA Playoffs
Determining Ties for Playoff Position

In order to break a tie for playoff positions, if one exists at the end of the regular season, the following criteria will be utilized in the order set forth:

TWO-WAY TIES

a. Results of games against each other.
b. Better winning percentage within own division (only if tied teams are in same division).
c. Better winning percentage within own conference.
d. Better winning percentage against playoff opponents in own conference (including teams that finished the regular season tied for a playoff position).
e. Better winning percentage against playoff opponents in opposite conference (including teams that finished the regular season tied for a playoff position).
f. Better point differential between offense and defense.

MORE THAN TWO TEAMS TIED

a. If applicable, division champions must be determined first.
b. Better winning percentage in all games among the tied teams.
c. Better winning percentage against teams in own division (only if all tied teams are in same division).
d. Better winning percentage against teams in own conference.
e. Better winning percentage against teams eligible for playoffs in own conference (including teams that finished the regular season tied for a playoff position).
f. Best point differential between offense and defense.

Note: If a multiple team tie is reduced to a two-team tie at any point using the above criteria, the two-team tie will be resolved in accordance with the existing two-team tie procedure.
